

Another successful Ozri conference for Esri & the winner is .....

Ozri has grown to become one of the Australasian spatial industry's premier conferences and networking events. This year, saw Ozri with one of the strongest line ups of presentations and demonstrations in its 25 year history.

The main theme for Ozri 2011 – Connect, Build, Optimise – highlighted the emergent role of location intelligence across an expanding range of industries, as well as how GIS professionals are approaching the challenges accompanying the growing demand for location based data.

MapData Services, a subsidiary of Esri, is an industry leader in location based services. MDS showcased a web application optimised for an ipad using the Esri ArcGIS JavaScript API and MDS Foundation Map with a custom service to render the polygons.

Could the chance to win the Amazon.com, Kindle Fire, attribute to the overwhelming interest with several hundred visitors to the MDS booth? MDS contacted the lucky winner, Malcolm Parnell from the Bureau of Meteorology in Canberra. Congratulations to Malcolm!
